

Movado Herald Square - 2013.

This edgy design offers a storefront profile that frames an interactive media wall beyond. Watches are merchandised traditionally in a modified display case, but there are still opportunities for the customer to occupy the space and interact with displays tucked into the framework of the store.

