

Movado Herald Square - 2013

This concept offers a balance between traditional and unconventional methods of merchandising. Customers can experience Movado on their own; by observing and touching the products along the display walls, or they may seek the assistance of an experienced salesperson to gain a deeper understanding of highlighted products showcased in the front display cases.

